Whirlaway Whirls Along;
Heroic Conquering Hero
Provider Of Good Copy

One of the absorbingly interesting topics of conversation among turfmen at present is this:

Will Whirlaway succeed in his efforts to wrest the title of the world's champion money-winning race horse from Seabiscuit before the season closes?

At the close of the season of 1941 he stood 3rd on the list.

Seabiscuit, as aforesaid, topped it: his credit being $437,730.

Sun Beau stood 2nd with $376,744.

Whirlaway stood 3rd with $349,661.

As was recorded in this department at the time, Whirlaway was sent to California last fall with the object of winning the renewal of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap to be run the 1st Saturday in March.

However, the cancellation of the entire Santa Anita meeting left him in the lurch. As, for the time being he had "nothing to do and nowhere to go."

When he was taken to the Pacific Coast a very sizable bet was overlooked. Planning to keep him there all winter he was not engaged anywhere else.

Had he been also named in the $50,000 Widener at Hialeah, set to

Columbia Adds Night Event

BY MRS. ERROLL G. OSTROM

Blessed with two beautiful days of sunshine after weeks of stormy wet weather, the Columbia Hunt Club Summer Outdoor Horse Show at Portland, Ore., went off with great success. In view of the fact that the show ring at Columbia was destroyed by fire last spring, the show was held at Jantzen Beach Stadium. Major Daniel Becker, U. S. Cavalry, was official judge, assisted by Mr. Harry M. Kerron in the gaited classes. The ringmaster, Mr. Ward W. Wells, contributed greatly to the success of the event in the ring, his friendly smile encouraged many adult riders as well as children.

An enthusiastic crowd of horse lovers gathered for the two matinees, on Saturday and Sunday and for the evening show Saturday night, believed to be the first formal out-

Rolling Rock's Spanish Spear Outstanding

Conformation Winner Takes Model And Performance
Classes At Rochester

BY EDWARD DICKINSON

Spanish Spear, the Rolling Rock Farms' 5-year-old gelding by Espino, won the model hunter class that opened the Rochester Charity Horse Show—June 18, 19, 20, and 21—and his stablemate, Field Marshall, had the red. The class held 15 entries and was judged along the north side of the big show ring at Rochester (N. Y.) while on the south side the model three gaited saddle horse class was judged. This was a win for J. T. McCullough's Golden Breeze. A few minutes later a second model hunter class was called, this time for 5-year-olds and under, and again Spanish Spear was the winner. In

The Toronto Horse Show Assn., held its 42nd annual show on June 6, on the Eglinton Hunt grounds, York Mills, near Toronto, Canada. Mrs. Timothy C. Eaton's honest big chestnut Earl won the champion challenge trophy with 16 points, 13 of which were scored in the 3 classes which decided the winner of the Long Branch Challenge Trophy which brought her this trophy as well. Over 80 horses contended.

Gross attendance receipts went to the Telegram British War Victims Fund.

All prizes were paid in War Savings Certificates.

Virginia Horsemen Hold Preview With Saratoga Yearlings

Race-Horse Prospects Passed Through Mathematical Tests
By Kentucky Editor-Judge

BY GERALD B. WEBB, JR.

'Neath ancestral oaks in the Upperville (Va.) Show Grounds last Sunday, June 28, it was shades of yesteryear and 1853 when Colonel Richard Dulany deliberated at length on the merit of two cracking Thoroughbred yearlings. He did this to settle a dispute between owners. Horsemen and breeders came from miles around to await the Colonel's decision. This occasion established a competitive precedent that has come down to this day in the breeding of Thoroughbred horses in the Old Dominion State in the form of the Upperville Colt and Horse Show, an annual fixture, to which singular importance is attached in the championship yearling colt award.

Taking up where the Upperville Show leaves off the Virginia Horsemen's Assn., desiring to promote the Thoroughbred in Virginia, especially those being sent to the August Saratoga Sales by regular consignor-breeders, the 1st Annual Thoroughbred Yearling Show of Virginia was held with great success. There were some 44 youngsters, yearling fillies and colts for the 2 classes. These

First Greystone Show Successful

BY WOOGIE

Miss Kathleen Costello and Miss Norton Jessop, two energetic young ladies put their heads together and before they knew it The Greystone Horse and Pony Show was started, and we hope it will continue next year and meet with even greater success. It was held Saturday, June 20 at the P. E. Costello's place in Cockeysville, Md., for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The show became a member of the Maryland Horse Show Assn., so the points gained in this show will be kept on record and may play an important part in deciding Maryland's champion hunter of the year, or the final of the D. Sterett Gittings horse-manship.

The youngsters were prepared for a good show and they got one. Little Miss Jay Tischinger still under 6,

Hunting Notes:-

Many Foxhunters Are Doing Their Bit In Helping To Train Dogs For Defense

BY W. NEWBOLD ELY, M. F. H.

Foxhunters are finally beginning to come into their own on war dog training.

Denison Hull, M. F. H. of the Fox River Valley Hunt (Ill.), writes "my kennel huntsman is working steadily with five hounds, and Clifford Wallace, one of the outstanding trainers of Spaniels and Retrievers for field trials has been helping."

In Pennsylvania the Rose Tree Hunt Club, the oldest in the U. S., is carrying on in the traditions which caused its Gloucester foxhunting members to form Philadelphia's famous First City Troop which has fought in every war in our nation's history, and won itself ranking among the leading military units of the U. S. Army in efficiency.

At the Rose Tree Hunt under the able management of Tom Linn part of the foxhound kennels, a large number of boxstalls, and the indoor exercise ring, have all been turned over to the dogs being sent in training for the Army.

Members of the hunt are volunteering for the training work, as well as local patriotic citizens including both farmers, members of the local police force, and groups of local home guard and defense organizations.

Among Mr. Linn's able assistants are two ladies well known in both foxhunting and American Kennel Club obedience tests,—Mrs. Linn and Mrs. Foster Reeve.

Another center being established is at the Norristown Armory, where a group of the guardsmen interested in dogs is going to start training some. In this set-up the dogs are going to be kept at the homes of various individuals and brought to the training classes. The local officers Major Paul and Captain Bell, both followers of my hounds, are most enthusiastic about this work.

The master of each recognized pack of hounds should get in touch with his regional director of Dogs for Defense. We again give them for the convenience of our readers:—

George S. West, from Boston, Mass. for New England, with William Prescott Wolcott as his special assistant from Milton, Mass.; Mrs. George B. St. George of Tuxedo Park, N. "Off Season"

"There's much about the Springtime That really isn't bad;
The whistle of the cardinal Is musical and glad;
The little golden daffodils Are smiling by the wall,
And it's idle to be thinking Of Cubhunting in the Fall.

There's much about the month of May That's really very good;
Brook trout are rising to the fly, Jack Pulpits throng the wood,
Barn swallows build their nests of clay Above the hunter's stall;
There's no excuse for thinking Of Cubhunting in the Fall.

The house wren's back in residence, Again from fluted throat,
The woodland thrush, at evening, Broadcasts his liquid note,
The crow retains his sombre black When other birds are gay;
But we don't forget he told us Where the fox had passed his way!

The laurel blooms on wooded hills, Cock pheasants strut the plow,
The corn is drilled in even rows, The calf nuzzles the cow,
The young entry tug their couplings, They must learn that play's not all,
And submit to basic training For Cubhunting in the Fall.

The month of June, too, might be worse, We don't mind if there's drouth,
And our temper's not affected Should the wind be in the South.
Across the bearded barley The Bobwhite sends his call,
And it's still too soon for thinking Of Cubhunting in the Fall.

July Fourth brings its fireworks, The binder cuts the wheat;
The sheafs are piled in single file, The fields look swept and neat,
But the foxhounds sing in kennels, And the timbre of their song
Seems to telegraph the message That "Now it won't be long!"

The bullfrog's booming baritone Has welcomed August back;
The sumac turns to crimson, It's time to 'road' the pack.
Dewdrops are on the spiderweb, The hunter's in his stall,
And, at last, we're set in earnest For Cubhunting in the Fall!

III for southern Ohio; Mr. John S. Sweeney of Detroit for Michigan; Mr. Henry Norton of Minneapolis for Minnesota; Mr. Mahlon B. Wallace, Jr. of St. Louis for Missouri; Mrs. Harkness Edwards of Donerail, Ky. for Kentucky; Mr. Ernest E. Ferguson of Hollywood, Calif. for the Pacific Coast; Mr. Lewis G. Spence of Dallas, Tex. for Texas, assisted by Regional Co-Director Mr. Russ Ellis of Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Marie A. Stone of Milwaukee for Wisconsin; Mrs. J. H. Schuffman of Davenport, Iowa, for Iowa; Mrs. W. J. Roberts of Indianapolis for Indiana; Mrs. Hoagland Elliott of Omaha for Nebraska, and Mr. Harold K. L. Castle of Honolulu for the Territory of Hawaii.

Practically every recognized hunt has an ideal set-up to help in the war dog training. A little extra kennel space with the putting down of many hounds of the pack a few vacant box stalls and some men with experience in handling animals.

Once again we urge all foxhunters to see what they can do to help at least partially convert their peace time pleasure to something worth while for their country in war time.

Nineteenth Century Fox Hunting

To The Fox-Hunting Men, Next Best Thing To A Good Day Is To Read About It

By Geo. W. Orton

"Yes, awake and away! all your dreamings dismiss,
And away with all snobbish adorning,
There never was ground of such promise as this;
Then, huzza for a hunting morning,
(From an Eighteenth Century Hunting Song)

The writer has recently had the opportunity of looking over the bound copies of the Spirit of the Times, donated to the Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club by Mr. Wm. A. Stotesbury, for the years of 1839, 1840, 1841 and 1842. From these files, some very interesting data as to early nineteenth century fox hunting is revealed. It is shown that Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and Virginia were the first parts of this country where fox hunting was established as a sport. The earliest settlers brought the sport along with them. Later on, in New England, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Alabama, Tennessee, Missouri, Illinois and other states, we find mention of fox hunting. There were no regular fox hunting clubs in those days but many of the landed proprietors and quite a few of the more well to do farmers had their own packs and hunted frequently. In those early days, we frequently find mention of the fact that the hunt was spoiled by the hounds' leaving the scent of the fox and taking after a deer, a circumstance that has occurred this season in the Radnor Hunt, Pickering Hunt and Mr. Stewart's Cheshire Hunt countries.

We find quite a little discussion in these early times as to the respective merits of the English, French and American fox hounds. The old question of whether the American red fox is a native of this country or was brought here by the early settlers is also discussed but not disposed of.

for Defense, has asked me to handle any foxhounds that are donated by patriotic citizens, so any particulars about individuals of this breed being donated should be sent to me care of The Chronicle.

Have your staff and hunt members volunteer for an hour or so a day of training, get dogs of medium size breeds donated and send checks to Dogs for Defense.

The fact that by 1800 or shortly afterwards, we find the red fox all over the country from the Mississippi East and presumably farther West proves to many that the red fox is a native of the country. Others maintain that as the fox is a rather prolific breeder, is could very well have been the result of the increase of the foxes originally brought over to this country by the early settlers who undoubtedly did bring some over in order to be sure of having that wily animal to hunt.

Probably the earliest well known fox hunter in this country was Lord Fairfax of Virginia. The most famous of these early hunters is George Washington as we find that in 1748 when he was only 16 years of age, he was taught the fine points of hunting the fox by Lord Fairfax. We know from Washington's diary that later on, he had his own pack and hunted almost to the day of his death. In Delaware and Chester counties of Pennsylvania and in New Jersey in the Gloucester County region, fox hunting was so popular that in 1766, the Gloucester Fox Hunting Club was organized.

Batavia's 2nd Annual Show Sees Arcade Lass Win Sole Hunter Event

BY EDWARD DICKINSON

Patrick Geracci's Arcade Lass won the sole hunter event at the 2nd annual horse show of the Batavia Saddle and Bridle Club on Sunday, June 14, which show was held at the Batavia Fair Grounds (N. Y.) famed for its month of flood-lighted night, light harness racing each summer.

Arcade Lass was ridden for her owner by Anthony A. Brown, and in addition to this win as a hunter she had 2nd behind her stable mate, Arcade Fidget, in the open jumping, and the 1st in the novice jumping. Arcade Fidget won knock down and out with a clean performance over all 8 jumps, and Arcade Lass had the 3rd after a jump off with Harley Seaman's Little Joe.

In the hunter class James S. Barlett's Miss Punkins by Northcliffe, ridden by Robert Glover, had the red, and this fine Thoroughbred mare was given 2nd place in the pleasure hacks behind Dr. John B. Deavitt's Lord Brooklyn. Little Joe, above mentioned had the yellow in the hunter class and the 4th went to Dr. V. J. Levy's aged, grey gelding, Hercules. It seemed like old times to see Dr. Levy riding "Herky" again, and put one in mind of Dr. Levy's 1st blue—3-years-ago—with this gelding.

The horsemanship classes were pretty weak, but, perhaps, after the magnificent show of the Ironduquoit Spur Club a week before and only 35 miles away we, who drove through heavy rain and mud to get to the Batavia show, expected too much.

Breezing Home New 2-Year-Old Eastern Bred Stakes Winner

Wins Great American To Defeat Rosemont's Supermont; Prince Govans Set 1 1/2 Record

The 2-year-old progeny of sires standing East of the Alleghenies have another name to add to their stakes winner's list. Breezing Home's victory in the Great American Stakes at Aqueduct brought him out of the maiden ranks and gave him the winner's share of $5,875. The son of the late Espino finished 6th in his previous outing in the Tremont Stakes which was won by Supermont (Rosemont—Supremist) but the son of Rosemont encountered bad luck coming into the stretch while running close up in 2nd position. He was bumped and knocked off his stride, and finished last in the small field of 5.

Breezing Home was also in the losing position in the Juvenile Stakes when Supermont's half-brother, Suncap was the winner. However, the William Ziegler, Jr. color-bearer turned in a cracking good performance in the Great American and was never headed after the start.

Prince Govans won his largest purse to date and clipped 2 seconds off the track record for 1 1/2 miles, at Delaware Park in annexing the 4th of the Montchanin Handicap series. Isador Biebler's Hillblond placed and Montpelier's Imp. Connachta, who has left the 'chasing ranks for the flat, finished 3rd. Prince Govans is by Glastonbury, who stands at Winnaford Farm, Hyde, Md., and is out of Queen Govans.

Skirmish, H. L. Straus' home-bred and raised son of War Hero—Miss Nurmi, carried top-weight in a claiming event at Suffolk Downs and defeated the holder of the track record for 1 1/2 miles. Chalking up his 2nd victory of the year, Skirmish's time was 1 1-5 seconds off the record, but even this proved too much for Col. Goodnight, the one who set the old record back in 1939.

Grand Time, (High Time—La Grande Arnee, by Verdun), leads the Eastern sires for the week of June 24-30. Grand Time, who stands at Mrs. David A. Buckley's High Acre Farm, near The Plains, Va., had 8 progeny in the winner's circle and D. N. Rust, Jr.'s Imp. Gino was next with 7 winners.

Total Eastern-bred 1st purses aggregated $104,192, of which amount the progeny of the late Espino won $7,150 to boost their sire to the top as the leading money winning sire of the week.

Eastern-bred winners increased to 139. 87 Virginia-breds won monies amounting to $66,767; 34 Maryland-breds, $25,470, and 12 New Jersey-breds, $9,715. Pennsylvania-breds accounted for 3; Massachusetts, 2 and Connecticut, 1.

Trails of America

The Green Mountains Make Wonderful Riding Country With Ever-Changing View

By Castle Hill

The collection of Trail stories is interesting, everyone connected with them in different parts of the country has been most cooperative. We have made no attempt to use any sequence of trail countries, but have published them as they have come to the copy file. Thanks to Dr. Earle E. Johnson, President of The Green Mountain Horse Association and 1st Vice-President Owen Moon we have received copious literature on their trails in Vermont, however, it has covered so much good reading that until now we have not been able to consolidate it into one comprehensive whole. The following article will give the reader a picture of what he may expect if he chooses Vermont for his vacation time and pleasure.

An early start will land you from New York in Manchester, a few miles east of the New York state line and not so much further north of the Massachusetts line. Looking to the west you will see Equinox Mtn. In fact the Green Mountains come from further south and wander all the way up north, leaving the Green Mountain National Forest behind them, a few miles north of Manchester. For no especial reason, other than that there had to be a starting point, Manchester is chosen, a really good stable of horses fills the need, the Equinox Stables. Perhaps that is the reason for the starting point. Choose your horse and ride to Deer Knoll, on the eastern slope of Equinox, to see how he suits you. While making headquarters here, there is a ride worth describing. Round Equinox Mtn. where you can see the Berkshires to the south, some 35 miles; through Sandgate Notch to the other side of Equinox and you are in a narrow valley where Green River flows to Arlington. Going north through Beartown Notch you come to the Dorset Inn, a good place to eat and sleep and most important, a good stabling for the horses to lay over. This 20 some miles of a ride has been made at an elevation of 1000 to 2000 feet.

Skirting Dorset Mountain next day you head for luncheon at Danby Four Corners. Another good meal and with rested horses you have a glorious view of the distant White Mountains of New Hampshire while going over Clarke Mtn. The destination True Temper Inn, in the Otter Creek Valley takes care of the 2nd night, for horse and man, in elegant fashion. East toward Ludlow is next morning's itinerary, with a stop off for a swim in the inviting Echo Lake, using Tyson as the stopover. Turning south Ludlow is left behind and Weston Inn is the good resting spot for the noon hour. Bromley mountain is the next night stop and makes a good ride west. Back down to West Wardsboro, lying to the south-east is by unmarked trails, mostly Federal Forest Preserve. Here the Green Mountain House affords excellent hostelry facilities for both mount and man. West to Arlington is the order of the next day, a night spent here and the next day home to the starting off place, Manchester. Over 150 miles of good footing, on good horses, under delightful climatic conditions and with changes of scenery and views that command constant interest in the surroundings.

Yes, we didn't go there, have never been there, but Dr. Earle and his conferees gave enough information to make us try to arrange some day, for a real visit of enjoyment.

19th Century Hunting

ly, we learn not only of fox hunting in this country and in England and Ireland but also in France, Germany, Belgium, Russia and other European countries. Marquis Waterford of Ireland was undoubtedly the most noted fox hunter of these times as he is given pre-eminence even by English writers. His hounds and hunters were recognized as the very best of their day. Judging by the accounts of English hunting, it was even more popular then, than it is today. There was great rivalry in the breeding of hounds and many arguments as to the comparative excellence of the various kennels. First class hounds were very valuable. As evidence of this, I cite a sale of hounds which took place on July 6, 1840 at Hyde Park Corner, London. This was probably the most remarkable sale of hounds in the history of fox-hunting. Quoting from an account in a London paper, "the lots sold were thirteen in number, making 127 hounds, exclusive of whelps. Their "produce" was 6511 guineas. "For one lot of eleven hounds, Lord Cardigan paid 1020 guineas". For another lot of ten hounds, Mr. Allen paid 1360 guineas while a Mr. Berkeley paid 980 guineas for another lot of ten. The pack that realized this enormous sum was "The Osbaldeston" which hunted the Berkeley country (Herefordshire) under the mastership of Harvey Combe, Esq.

The mention of hunting in Russia states that the sport was confined to the British residents. In 1840, they had a kennel about eleven miles out of St. Petersburg and regularly hunted from their lodge and stables there during the season. It is interesting also to note that in the winter time, when the snow was not too deep, they took the hounds out to hunt wolves. It is very naively stated that, in those days, one could always round up a wolf any day within a few miles of the Russian capital. The account states that the hunters would put the hounds on the trail of a wolf, that they could tell by the tracks of the wolf when he knew that he was being hunted and had started to run hard, that, then, the hunters moved up close to the hounds and on coming up with the wolf, they shot him in order to keep the wolf from killing some of the hounds when he was brought to bay.

Just as in Russia, we find that wherever the English went, they introduced fox hunting. In India, in the Northern provinces, the British cavalymen or Cornets as they were called at that time, hunted to hounds. All of the hounds had to be imported as they found that they could not breed good hounds in India then. It is stated that the Indian fox was smaller than the English fox and very fast and hard to follow. He doubled like a hare and was practically as fast. For this reason, they frequently hunted these foxes with greyhounds and used the hounds to hunt jackals whose speed and cunning approximated that of the English fox.

Coming back to American hunting, in one of the editions of the Spirit of the Times, an old gentleman writes to the Editor to commend him for giving space to fox hunting and in his letter, he gives some personal reminiscences. He stated that near Baltimore about 1820, he accompanied Mr. Brown, the huntsman for Mr. Oliphant on a hunt, there being ten couples of hounds in the pack. According to this old gentleman, fox hunting in the Baltimore district had been a popular sport from early Colonial times.

In 1840, an account of a combined hunt at Pea Ridge, S. C. is given. There were five packs of dogs, making 55 hounds in all. They ran the fox for several miles whereupon the hounds put up a deer. Finally, after crossing and recrossing one of the numerous rivers in that section, most of the hunters gave up the chase and left the huntsman to continue and bring back the hounds. Only two were in at the kill.

In the same year, two parties of neighboring districts near Sumpter, S. C. had an argument as to the excellence of their hounds and they determined to settle the matter. They hunted from Monday to Saturday. One Party produced eight brushes while the other produced seven brushes and a wild cat skin. The wild cat skin was ruled out and the party with eight brushes was adjudged the winner. The other party, as the loser, gave a barbecue which 150 people attended and "all went pleasantly and well."

The British settlers and especially the cavalymen introduced fox hunting in Canada. It was introduced early and developed so much interest in the higher circles of society of Montreal, that, in 1829, the Montreal Hunt was organized with forty members. Fox Hunting is also mentioned in Toronto at that time. In 1840, the first steeplechase held on this continent was given by the Queen's Own Hussars, then in barracks at Montreal. This was a three mile race over hedges and ditches, more like our present cross-country races than the modern steeplechase events over carefully prepared terrain and evenly spaced jumps. The horses carried 172 pounds. A similar race at the same weights was held in Toronto later that year. (To be concluded.)

YOUR FAMILY at The Homestead

Virginia Hot Springs

There are more family units at The Homestead, this summer, than ever.

Many of them are the families of business executives, who join the groups on week-ends, and who perform their important wartime duties more ably in the knowledge that their families are in this safe and friendly haven.

Your family, too, will enjoy summer life here, away from problems of domestic management. Our booklet, "Summer Life at The Homestead," sent on request to The Homestead, Hot Springs, Virginia.

THE HOMESTEAD is just overnight by air-conditioned trains from all cities of the East and Middle West. Our famous Private Spa has unequalled facilities for mineral baths, massage, weight reduction, etc.

STEPHENSON II, 1925, BADAJOZ - PROPONENT. Came over with EPINARD to this country. Given by the late James Cox Brady to the late E. W. Marland. Contracted pneumonia, was successfully operated on for thick wind by the Fort Riley veterinary officers. Trained by Alfred House, the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club manager. Then played polo for Tom Guy as an entire. The comparison of his furnishing up is interesting. Inset pictures him as a 3-year-old and the other was taken 5 years later.

AN ADVENTUROUS DAM

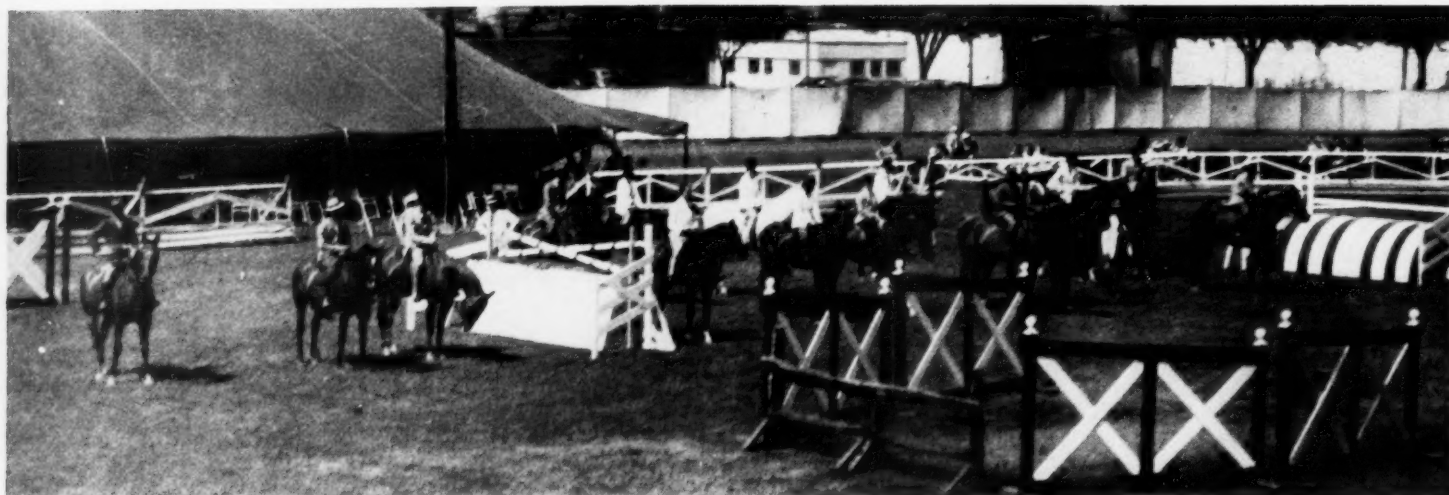

LADY ABSOLUTE, HYDROMEL--PERSIA. Owned by the Diamond L. Ranch, Fort Worth, Texas. At San Angelo she was champion thoroughbred of the show. Her schooling and conditioning includes cattle work, general work on the range and some polo balancing. When her day comes to be a brood mare, she shows room enough to do that job well also, her disposition is splendid. Price Photo

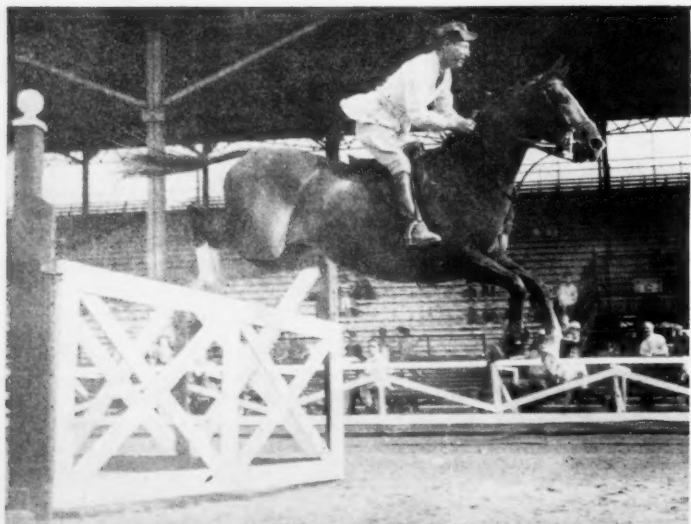

AIRMAIL, RATIFIER - HARRIET IRISH with owner Peter Lert up. AIRMAIL has been a consistent winner in Northern California this year. Peter Lert is now in the Cavalry at Fort Riley. Of interest is that HARRIET IRISH is by TRIAL BY JURY, was sold in 1926 by the late Maj. H. J. Weeks to the late E. W. Marland. Played polo, was said to have been lost in a crap game, taken to California by Tom "Red" Guy where she was sold to Joe Blackwell and her first foal was AIRMAIL. Photo by Bone

 (All Photos by Robert F. Michelson)

Some of the varied jumps used in the great Rochester, N.Y., Horse Show, held June 18-21, are pictured in the ring, as the hunter hacks are lined up. Miss Molly Hays rode Rolling Rock's veteran DR. GREY to win the blue in this event, in which Miss Peggy Mills rode Frank T. Graham's PLYMOUTH ROCK for the red.

Above: The reserve jumper champion is pictured in action. Russel Stewart rode his own celebrated MY PLAY GIRL to this honor. The mare won the knockdown and out the 1st day. MY PLAY GIRL and MY PLAY BOY with owner up make two of the greatest open combinations in this country. Left: The famed SPANISH SPEAR of the Rolling Rock Stables (owned by Maj. F. K. Mellon) is pictured in a jumping effort. Tommy Spinks, regular contract rider is up. SPANISH SPEAR, an ESPINO gelding, won the young hunter awards among others. He refused to jump at Upper-ville Show, Va.

Notes From Great Britain

By J. FAIRFAX-BLAKEBOROUGH

Few Otter Packs Have Found It Possible To Carry On Under Present Conditions

Cold winds, which have retarded the growth of herbage, also made rivers and streams in no sort of condition for otter-hunting. So far as I know the only pack hunting northern waters this season is the Kendal and District, who commenced operations the second week of May. The Northern Counties, the Carlisle, the Dumfriesshire and other packs all seem to have stopped hunting "for the duration". These packs, like others, are reduced to a few hounds,—a mere nucleus from which in happier days a new pack may be bred. Were it otherwise few folk would now have the leisure to spend their summer days by the waters' edge enjoying the ancient sport amid sylvan scenes and in congenial company.

Those few otter packs that will be out this season will have very few followers, and it is a question whether some of the otter hunts which are inactive will ever be reinstated. Some of them prior to the war were finding it difficult to secure sufficient financial support to carry on, and it is certain that matters will not be improved in this connection for many years to come. To those who best understand the science of otter-hunting, who love hounds and hound work, and are sportsmen and sportswomen at heart, the summer branch of venery has a very real appeal and fascination. The number of these, however, is growing small. Speaking of hunting and turning to the winter sport, I am reminded that, whereas far fewer foxes than usual were killed during the much interrupted 1941-42 season by most packs, the Lanarkshire and Renfrewshire had a record 'bag'. They accounted for 36½ brace. In such statistical returns, however, we are rarely told how many of the total were caught during the regular season and how many during preliminary cubbing operations. To gain any idea of the real fox-catching attributes of a pack the destruction of three-part grown cubs (maybe held up) should not be included in the season's total.

Ald-Time Ostlers

"We've had to gan back to a gallo-way ant trap to get to market", remarked a farmer to me this week. He added, "Buses is very convenient, but you aren't allus safe of getting a seat, and if you have a lot of stuff to hug bask it's orkerd". Then he remarked on the changes which have taken place in inn-yards during the past few years. "Where I used to put up, and where my father used to put up afore me, all the stabling is now garages, and at the one or two 'publics' which have any stabling, there's no ostler like what there used to be to help folks to lowse out and yoke-up again, and to be about to keep an eye on hosses and parcels what tradesmen sent to their customer's traps. I can call to mind when some stabling was so crowded on market days that hosses were packed in standings like herrings in a box. There was offens a good bit of yeilding and kicking; so it needed an ostler about, or a hoss might easily get a leg broke." They were usually "wet" customers those ostlers. Some of them had been in good places in gentleman's service and had come

Randle's Way's Jumping And Boot Jack's Going Features Of Suitland

BY ANNE HAGNER

With a sensational leap of 6'-7 1-8", Joseph Pozehl's Randle's Way came within easy striking distance of the District-Md.-Va. high-jumps record at the Suitland (Md.) Horse Show June 14.

That mark is purely a modern one, was set last year by Miss Margaret Cotter's Rocksie at the Farmington (Va.) Horse Show at 6'-7 3-4". But is of considerable importance to Eastern enthusiasts.

The tremendous jump in Suitland's skyscraper class gave Randle's Way the jumper crown over another former member of U. S. Randle's show string, Cateer, now owned by David Martin. Both horses are stabled at Norbeck, Md.

In the hunter division, Mr. Randle's consistent combination of Gee Ray Bee and Troop placed 1-2 in the championship battle, with Gee Ray Bee earning 15 points over Troop's 9 1-2. Both horses were vanned to Maryland after 2 extremely grueling days at the Upperville Colt and Horse Show, where Troop was reserve champion.

Another Randle horse, Sport Marvel, once a conformation winner on the Virginia circuit, turned into one of the most surprising jumpers in the show when he made 2 game efforts at the 6'-7 1-8" fence, only to score knockdowns and place 2nd to Randle's Way.

The Randle entries were ridden down through drink. Most ostlers were "characters", never seen out of breeches and leggings, and apparently never off the premises, and they often had to be brought from the tap-room, and frequently were "fuddled" by late afternoon. Their race now seems to have died out, possibly because during the past twenty years so many farmers have gone in for motors and the often capacious stabling attached to inns in market towns, gradually lost its purpose. In many instances it was erected not merely for the convenience of the pre-railway public, who made their journeys by coach, in the saddle, or by means of horse-drawn vehicles, but also for post horses and mail coach teams. Not a few inn-keepers kept twenty or thirty post-horses always on call, and also horsed mail coaches for one stage of their journey. I am old enough to have known some of those who acted as "post-boys". The ostlers outlived them, but both types have now disappeared.

The Farmer's Car

Reference has been made to farmers having cars—"the devil's carriages", as the late Mr. William Forbes, so long Master of the Hurworth Hunt, used to call them. Some of the motors used by those on the land are not kept in that state of cleanliness and polish which is maintained by those with more time for such care and attention. The other day I heard an amusing story in this connection. A farmer on a journey ran out of petrol and one of the greybeards of a nearby village on his way home from a stick gathering expedition, stopped and stared speechlessly at the car so long that the irritated farmer asked, "Is this the first car you've ever seen?" "No!", was the reply, "But it's very like the first yan I ever clapped eyes on—it's mebbe and awd ancient 'un is it? I had an idea when I saw you pulled up here you might be doing a bit of poaching".

alternately by Mr. Randle, Frost Anderson, Tommy Cooke, and Miss Cotter, who had the mount in the ladies' class, where Gee Ray Bee and Troop won the blue and red.

The Howard Bruce Challenge Trophy for working hunters went to Mrs. Gardner Hallman's steady half-bred 4-year-old, Boot Jack, who was victor over Marrian Curran's Needmore and Mr. Randle's Troop. Both Mr. Curran and Mr. Randle had won legs on the trophy in earlier years, but judges Thomas Trodden and W. O. Osbourne decided that their entries were no match for Boot Jack's excellent accounting.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lusby's Southern Md.-owned Lurline, an infrequent performer in the ring, made one of her rare appearances a winning one when she turned in a time-saving round to win the handy jumpers over Mrs. Lee Counselman's Kristi.

Just where the metropolitan area jumping battle will end seems to be in the stratosphere as hitherto lightly regarded horses made important bids for high-jump honors at Suitland.

Way, who has carried on a season-long battle with his former stablemate Cateer for open titles, may lure Miss Cotter and Rocksie out of their current open jumping retirement at the Columbus Horse Show June 27 and 28; at present the record-holder is appearing only in hunter classes.

The pony championship was taken by Bucky Magill's high-bouncing little Beauty Girl, who won over James Bland's Baby.

FOR THE YEARS TO COME

Work is an indefinable commodity. You cannot grasp it in your hand; you cannot hold it up before all the world and say, "Here, this is my work; this is me; take it and count it and see what a fine thing it is." Work is more subtle than that as day after day you build it into something until as the result of constant endeavor, like a snowball, it rolls into being, full blown upon the landscape. All products are but evidence of the indefinable quantities of the toil and thought and patience that goes to make up work.

When the task is completed, the product stands a living testimonial to the work involved, but the work itself is gone, vanished like the breeze to leave its own reward. Here at last is something you can put your hands on and say, "Look at this. Do you like it? This is my work. This is me for this is what I have done."

The Chronicle today represents in great part the work of Gerald Webb who has remained at his task for five years and who leaves The Chronicle with this issue for service with his country. Five years is a long span but for five years the thoughts, persistence and loyalty of the managing editor have been devoted to developing the uninterrupted publication of this chronicle of sport with horse and hound in the field. This was work, hard, strenuous, exacting work and it has accumulated through the weeks into a product that horsemen have come to know and whose name they will link with the annals of their sport for years to come.

Words of praise are light and airy things, easily spoken and speedily forgotten, but the work itself bespeaks the tale and The Chronicle will miss the work of the managing editor even as the work itself goes on.

Looking back on five years with a friend who does a good job for you is to know that you have something that you cannot measure in terms of wealth. Work, the kind that builds not castles in the air, but firm, strong houses, that kind of work rests on faith and determination. It cannot be bought, it can only grow in the day's progression and once there it remains like some still, deep pond where friends can rest awhile and be refreshed before they move along their ways.

Leaving The Chronicle for the prospect of army service has been no new thought for the managing editor. There has been much he has wanted to do and it is with the very real appreciation of the publisher that Gerry Webb remained to see The Chronicle through the first 6 months of war. It is hoped that this editor will still be able to contribute many articles in the days to come nor that it will ever be necessary to say goodbye as there is much too much to be done, now as well as when the war is done and won.

The war that has made nations writhe, that has changed the face of everything will build a firmer, stronger order where sport will not be threatened. Until then as sport goes so will go The Chronicle helping shoulder to shoulder with horsemen the country over to keep sport going for those in the service and out of the service, for those who love sport best. In this task The Chronicle will further the work of the sportiest editor that has ridden to hounds in many a year that the game will go on rolling for the years to come.

Building Up Riding

Dear Sir:

That was a fine story you had on the Horseshoe Trail in Virginia. I think featuring such things will help local people, and encourage many in other communities, to work more vigorously for the development of good riding trails, which you and I know are the first and most important of our needs in building up riding in any community.

Sincerely yours,

Wayne Dinsmore,

Bryn Mawr Hound Cancels

Dear Sir:

In an effort to obtain the point of view of as many as might be of the supporters and friends of the Hound Show we wrote to some thirty and more owners or representatives of packs of hounds, beagles and bassets.

We have replies from: Hounds, two for, ten against; Beagles, three for, three against; Bassets, one for, three against.

The unfavorable expression of opinion is so preponderant in the majority the committee has reluctantly concluded there is nothing other to do than decide not to have the show in 1942 and to so report to the show's friends and supporters.

Regretting that conditions force the cancellation of the 1942 show,

Sincerely

Walter M. Jeffords, President

One Day

Dear Sir:

Our plan at the present time for the Bath County Horse Show is not to hold a 2 day show on the 6th and 7th of August, but to have a one day show on Saturday, August 8.

Very sincerely yours,

Richard M. Carver,
(Virginia Hot Springs, Inc.)
Hot Springs, Va.
June 18, 1942.

(Editor's Note: Here is an example of carrying on. Formerly, Bath County Horse Show was one of the biggest and most important fixtures in Virginia during the summer months, despite an approximate 200 miles average van trip for most exhibitors. Bath County, tucked away in Southwest Virginia, will carry on in a 1-day show, some exhibitors will be able to get there by van and if not outside competition, there will be plenty of local competition among the several large stables there and the many individual sporting one-horse stable exhibitors.)

Montpelier Hound Show

Gentlemen:

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Virginia Foxhound Club it was decided that, owing to Hunts having to cut expenses as much as possible and the present and ever increasing difficulties in transportation, and without the help and practical support of

Deanslaw, Favorite Of Mrs. Weir's Wins Georgetown

Rich Delaware Park 'Chase To Beautiful Foxlaw Son Fated With Unsoundness

By GERALD B. WEBB, JR.

Of all the horses Mrs. Esther du Pont Weir has in her flat and steeplechase racing string, Deanslaw, might well be said to be her favorite. This beautiful imported son of Foxlaw has had the misfortune to be unsound, that after a notable record of 3 triumphs in 5 tries in 1940, he could run but once last year, when Bay Dean rattled to his record-breaking Jervis Spencer Memorial win at Pimlico. Mrs. Weir and her trainer, James E. Ryan, the man who brought this horse to this country, had perseverance however, and were not to be denied.

When the original entries for the Georgetown Steeplechase Handicap, rich $6,000 added 2 mile event at Delaware Park were announced, there seemed slated to be the greatest stake race of the season, with the meeting of Rokeby Stable's Mandingham, holder of the course mark, Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Bath, outstanding 'chaser to date of the 1942 season, Louis B. Mayer's grand veteran stakes winner, Ossabaw, and the long convalesced Deanslaw, who had but 2 previous outings this year. Then one of those peculiar circumstances to the racing luck of trainers and owners caused the overnight scratching of Mandingham. He suddenly went off his feed, instead of the keen, high-spirited horse, was sluggish and dull. There were ill rumors of Mandingham being tampered with, newspapers carried squibs, trainers talked. Saliva and urinalysis tests were made on the 2nd day, all returned with negative findings.

When post time came on Wednesday afternoon, June 24, there were 5 to report to the starter. Mrs. Phipps' young 4-year-old was loaded with 155 pounds, conceding from 13 to 17 pounds to the field. He was the public choice, expected to gallop, but the public had not reckoned well with the dormant class of Deanslaw, or the fact that little Bath packing such weight, might not take well to the larger jumps of the stake course at Delaware Park. Neither had this sophisticated mutual playing public reckoned with J. Magee, contract many of our Masters, former Exhibitors and Officials who are now in the service, it will be necessary to give up the Annual Hound Show at Montpelier this year.

Country Life Closes

Dear Sir:

I have to advise you that Mr. Vischer has been called back into Army, his service to begin almost immediately.

Under the circumstances he has found it possible to make only one decision, namely to close the doors of Country Life for the duration and start up again with a clean slate when it is all over, God willing.

Very truly yours,

Constance Hayes, (Country Life).

been built. The jumping courses were designed by Frederick K. von Lambeck and were picturesque and stiff enough to satisfy the utmost desires of a jumping man. One jump, in particular appealed to me, a pair of cart wheels painted dark green in a white frame. A Fairfield Gate was included, and the traditional triple bars, gates, ins-and-outs and the like were to be found.

British War Victims Fund.

Miss Adele Davies did well in the hunter classes, winning the lightweight green hunters and the ladies' hunters with Out to Sea, a lovely brown 4-year-old by Briar Hawk. Miss Davies also won the Rawlinson Memorial Trophy for working hunters for the 2nd year in succession with Hawk Trap, likewise a son of Briar Hawk.

O. D. Robinson was always well placed with his stable in the hunter classes and Clifton Sifton, Jr., put in nice performances with Silver Leaf to win the open hunter class, over a field of 16. He also won the road hack with this steady going big grey.

W. B. Cleland had a string of 6 horses showing from his Clestar Stable. All were from the same mare, Hill Storm and Hill Song will probably be familiar to many Americans and 2 of the younger ones are of the same strange color, quite undesirable however.

W. J. Thurston came down from Stratford having just recently returned from Northville Show (Mich.) and Buffalo Show (N. Y.), where he had enjoyed marked successes. He was well placed in the performance classes at Toronto.

Mrs. W. A. Willison also brought 3 of her horses down from Stratford, but was rather unfortunate. The very nice 4-year-old she acquired from Mr. Thurston, the winner of the Governor General's Cup last year, refused consistently and failed to take a jump.

Harry J. Price's grand little mare Brownie took part in both the touch-and-out and the knock-down-and-out stakes; was 2nd and 3rd in these 2 events. Brownie was a member of the winning team, in the team of 3 jumpers, with her stablemates Cheri and Imp ridden by Brian Herbinson and his father. Brownie was ridden by Miss Peggy Price.

Mr. Price has just bought the open jumper Rockingham from his former owners Ledson and Hurley. Bob Ledson, who has joined the Navy, rode him throughout the show and won the knockdown and out stake which was the last event after a long tough day, but stands nearly 18.0 hands and is from a Clyde mare by the German coach horse Better Times, who is also the sire of Mr. Price's Imp—G. B. W., Jr.

FARMING For Defense

Further Food Values And The Remedial Practices
Amplified In Order To Grow A Healthy Nation;
Public Taught Value Of Nutritions In Foods

By Chester F. Hockley

(This interesting analysis of needs and the possible means of solution, the Chester F. Hockley reprint from the American Fertilizer is again quoted to a conclusion.)

The good earth is truly Mother Earth. Plants depend on her for nourishment and growth; man and animals depend on the plants. The soil is mother of all life. Plants must get from the soil all the mineral elements needed. Calcium, phosphorus, potassium, sodium, magnesium, sulphur, iron, manganese, boron, copper and zinc are required; some only in minute quantities—boron for instance. Too much might prove harmful. Animals and man require all these elements too, except perhaps boron; and in addition, they need chlorine, iodine, and a few others.

Some investigators claim that plants require as many as 64 different chemical elements. However, be that as it may, we shall for the present confine ourselves to a consideration of those elements that by common consent are now known to be essential to the average normal growth of plants. Such elements seem to occur in sufficient amounts in many soils. Some of these elements are needed in relatively larger quantities than others. For example, plants need more calcium and phosphorus than iodine or cobalt. However, even when the element is needed in trace amounts, the plant must have it for its normal development. Lacking such trace elements, the plant reveals the deficiency by certain tissue symptoms.

Both layman and professional have up till recently looked upon such deficiency symptoms as diseases. For example, they spoke of "sand drown" disease in tobacco, which is now known to be caused by lack of magnesium in the soil; "pecan rosette" in the South due to deficiency of zinc; "cracked stem" of celery due to lack of boron; corkiness and "measles" in apples traced to boron insufficiency. These and many more deficiency symptoms are overcome by supplying the soil with the specific chemical which experiment has established as the corrective.

Diet Necessities

As with plants, so with animals and men; so-called "disease" may be the outward sign of nutrient deficiencies. We now recognize it is important to normal development and well-being to have in the diet a sufficient amount of calcium and phosphorus in proper ratio, together with Vitamin O. The diet of a full grown man must provide about 1 1-3 ounces of phosphorus and about 5-7 ounce of calcium per month. Over 70 per cent of the ash of the animal body consists of calcium and phosphorus and about 99 per cent of the calcium and 30 per cent of the phosphorus are in the bones and teeth. You all know the relation between rickets and a deficiency of calcium and phosphorus in the diet.

It would take me too far afield to attempt to trace the ramifications of the roles of magnesium, chlorine, sulphur, zinc, iron and the other elements in the nutrition and development of the animal body, even if I were fully competent to do so. It is sufficient to our purpose to say that scientists consider that many of the so-called "trace" elements which are essential to plant-life are equally important in human and animal nutrition for the prevention of disease. Iron, of which the adult body contains about 1-5 ounce, is absolutely essential to the formation of red blood corpuscles. Manganese is needed in the process of all animal reproduction, and is more commonly known for its ability to prevent slipped tendons in poultry. Iodine prevents goiter. These are only a few instances which illustrate the influence of these trace elements on the health of man and animals.

Dependency On Local Crops

We should have a far more intimate knowledge of the extent to which the necessary mineral nutrients are available in all the important soil types in each section of the country. Soil surveys setting forth this relationship will have to be made not only to enable us to know what crops can be grown abundantly, but also to make sure that such crops will contain these elements. In all countries, each large population group practically depends for most of its vegetable and animal food on locally grown crops. Hence, the importance of knowing what essential mineral nutrients the soils in each such community can furnish. If it is not practical and economical to replenish deficient minerals in such soils by commercial fertilizers or other means, then it were best that such areas should be abandoned for food producing purposes.

Instead of hunting all over the world for new substitute plants of lower feeding value to be grown on soils known to be depleted, it seems to me that it is wiser and sounder to restore the fertility of the land to the level where it will grow, for example, fine crops of alfalfa and red clover.

Work Up Depleted Land

Instead of the all-too-common attitude which regards poor, depleted land as good only for pasture, we should develop an attitude which measures the economic value of good grassland in terms of butterfat and beef and milk of high nutritional quality. We shall have to insist that

Additional Summaries On Michigan State Horse Show

The following summaries for the Michigan State Horse Show, held May 27-30, forwarded by 1st. Lt. Robert J. Rosa, (Cavalry), treasurer of this 20th annual event, were received too late for publication in our June 26 issue. The $300 Jumper Stake summaries carried by The Chronicle were incorrectly marked in the catalogue from which the story was written. Mrs. A. C. Thompson Happy Way Farm's Bruce won this stake and the 2nd money was won by George Sadler's White Oak, with 3rd to James Vernon, Jr.'s pasture soils should have a high fertility level in phosphorus, calcium, potash and the minor elements. The feeding value of grass is in direct proportion to the amount of these mineral nutrients.

We should have more laboratories working in close cooperation with the Plant, Soil and Nutritional Laboratory established by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Cornell University.

The public should be taught by proper agencies to appreciate nutritional quality in food-stuffs and to give preference to those known to be grown under conditions favoring maximum nutritional quality. Housewives and others entrusted with the preparation of food should be taught the best methods of cooking and preserving it for the human diet, that will retain intact the highest percentage of natural minerals and vitamins.

In the last analysis the problem of human and livestock nutrition resolves itself into a problem of improving the methods of crop production, that is, food production to create a higher degree of public health. Up till now, nearly everyone has considered this problem from the point of view of how to increase yields. Agricultural research has succeeded in teaching us how to increase yields. The fertilizer industry has made many valuable contributions to the art and science of increasing yields. But, as I said at the beginning, yield is not enough. We must now also think in terms of nutritional quality. It is the responsibility of all agencies—federal, state and private—now engaged in the fundamentally important industry of food production and food preparation, to work closely together for the one great purpose—a nation of vigorous, healthy, properly fed people.

North Woods.

The Chronicle summaries had North Woods 2nd and White Oak 3rd.

Mrs. Raymond C. Firestone's Secret Mist, of Memphis, Tenn., won the Thoroughbred working hunters other than Thoroughbred working hunters with her Secret Mist, as the consistent and versatile U. S. Army Roco was 2nd. This class was not included in the summaries carried, nor was the knockdown and out sweepstakes, won by Bruce.

Local Lectures Are Proving Helpful In Coping With Curtailment Problems

It is surprising how the picture of horse activities has changed since the first of the year. More and more we are arriving at a situation which has existed for several years in England, where traditional races, meets, shows and gymkhanas are held only if it is possible to keep them going with local support. There is no attempt, in fact there is definite discouragement of attracting exhibitors from any distance, for rail transportation and gas are both reserved as much as possible for the armed forces.

Many of our shows can be run on a small scale with horsemanship classes and gymkhana events, at least making expenses and providing wholesome experience for children who like to ride, and we don't know but that is a whole lot better than being in spotlight of so many big shows, coming one right after the other.

An interesting innovation has come to our attention recently. One is a series of lectures given to children at a nearby riding stables on such practical subjects as "Safety in the Stable"; "Requirements of a Good Horseman—Consideration, control of emotions, perseverance, and responsibility"; "Stable Equipment"; "Principle Points of Lameness, Blemishes, etc."; "Feet and Diseases of the Foot"; "Tack—its Kinds and Purpose"; "Styles of Riding, and purpose of each"; "Bits and Biting"; "Feed, summer and winter"; "Conformation", etc.

In almost every section there are good horsemen capable of speaking on such subjects, and how much benefit children would receive from learning about these matters, and no doubt, many adults too! If any such course is contemplated, try to organize a sizeable group to listen and take notes. It isn't very flattering to invite a horseman to prepare and give any talk, and then have only a handful of listeners show up.

Use the facilities at your command, rather than go afar seeking some authority on this or that subject. For instance, in this state Mr. Alfred G. Allen, M. F. H., has given most interesting talks on hounds and their care, with plenty of information and instances of practical experiences thrown in that can't be gotten out of books; where is a nearby farrier who knows about all there is to shoeing, and could give many points helpful to riders; another Irish gentleman used to go to Ireland every year to the Dublin Horse Show, who could speak about that subject; another one raised harness horses, and talks fascinatingly on those good old days. Another is an authority on bits, biting, and tack. In short, make use of the talents of the horsemen you have in your own vicinity. Make an event of it, with a picnic or barbecue supper, and what an occasion you will have!

Another aftermath of curtailment conditions comes to mind, and this is not such a pleasant thought. We have seen several horses given away by people who do not feel they can have the upkeep of a mount in these

Racing Will Always Do Most Of Sports In Army-Navy Relief Contributions

Notes From Chicago by Semper Avanti

Name a sport that has survived and will continue to survive as long as racing . . . when the war effort tallies are all in it will be found that racing's contribution to Army and Navy Relief will top all sports by far . . . Chicago tracks are considering installing water troughs for the expected hoss drawn equipages this summer . . . Oh, Mr. Ripley! they had a horse runaway story the other day in the Windy city, Ole Dobbin went for 13 blocks with a pie wagon, blooie! went 190 pies . . . The Chicago Tribune has twenty horse-drawn wagons on the delivery routes . . . 11 business licenses taken out recently in Chicago by newly opened blacksmith shops . . .

Best bred Illinois horse in years Doublerab, said to have been foaled on a 2 acre farm and raised in an old converted box car . . .

Had Santa Anita been allowed to race this winter past it had been planned to devote all profits to War Relief. These easily might have been a million or more . . . Incidentally speaking of Charity donations of the turf, how many know that both Santa Anita and Hollywood Park combined have in the past given contributions and days to various agencies that amounted to over five million dollars . . . Yes, spell them figures out in bold, and you members of the turf, tell them to the world. Racing will, as always before, do more in contributory efforts than any other sport . . . Funny how the shafts and slurs are slung only at those who succeed . . . Racing this week in a national magazine receipts for a vicious article written by Dan Parker. Wonder if Mr. Parker's room receipt was picked up by the management of the Kentucky Derby at any time? Wonder if he ever went for a free load at the festive board at press luncheons or the press tables set aside at most race tracks? Also wonder if the article would have sold as easily were it just an exquisite tale of how racing has always done its part, and further is there anything about the press, those caustic writers especially that would lead us to believe that they are without sin? . . .

Mori, Brown, Donovan and McLennan deserve nothing but success at Camden, they will prove able custodians of the sports return to a state once great in racing, aside to Charley McLennan, surely Camden will not fail to schedule a race for each of these greats of yesteryear, Fashion and Boston they fought some great turf duels right in Camden . . .

Did you know that Dan Patch earned considerably more than any running horse in both purses and fees for exhibitions at fairs? . . . Jim McGill nephew of Pittsburgh Phil will officiate at Arlington and Washington Park this summer . . . After the war look for a great re-ival of the trotters and pacers under lights in many states . . . Hollywood Park's general manager Jack McKenzie doing some valued war work out on the coast . . . then too the entire staff of Santa Anita co-ordinating the Army and Navy War Relief Fund programs . . .

Wish I could tabulate the story of the men of the entire horse world and how they set sail for service, that will be a great story some day when its told . . . Thousands from the horse shows and standard breds . . . Best of all I like Alf Vanderbilt's gesture of saying "give me a job, and pass the gold braid!" . . .

Cheapest way to get a kick out of owning a stable of runners, lease the racing qualities of one or two good runners, pay for the privilege of the horses carrying your colors and name on the program, pay about $175 per month for each horse, trainer keeps earnings (if any) no bills, just thrills . . .

By the way here would be a good spot to list all those who are in service, send their names in to The Chronicle. Send all you know and have this magazine list them from time to time on an Honor Roll . . .

Did you ever hear of the time a British sportsman wagered he could despatch a message 50 miles in 50 minutes and not by post, wire, or pigeon? He simply put the written message inside a cricket ball and had some twenty cricket players toss one to the other stationed around a mile race course, the time I think was about 41 seconds to whirl it the mile . . . By the way any one know a good looking blonde with fair good tires? . . . Clear Weather and a Fast Track.

times, and their new owners haven't the least idea how to care for the animal, and their facilities are most poor. We pity the horses. There are always some people who want to get something for nothing, and we do hope horse lovers, in making changes, think of the horse, than which there is no creature more faithful, and provide for him kindly.

You can't just own a horse without accepting some responsibility too. Yet some people are as casual about it as buying a new shirt. In our vicinity a big fair is held every year, with one of the highlights the raffling off of an automobile. This year they are raffling off a horse and buggy instead. Of course, the idea has gotten no end of publicity, and pictures of the turnout dot the newspapers, captioned, "Are YOU going to get this smart rig?" "How to meet rationing days in STYLE!"

Well, the situation is, someone within a radius of 15 miles is going to get the horse and the buggy, and there are not 12 families in this area who have a barn or stables to take care of it. Besides, we have hardly a dirt road for miles, the trucks tear through Route No. 1, and the congestion at meeting trains, when people would obviously have need of transportation, is bad for even a car.

So let us keep our heads in these times, and let our impulses be guided by common sense and sanity.

Prince Tex Bounces 5'-7" In Open Jump Then Wins Ladies'

By K. McL. W.

This year the 20th anniversary of the show, held on the Carrolls' Daughoregan Manor, saw bad luck strike from more than one direction. To begin with, it fell on the same day as the Washington Show, then the skies opened on the morning of the show and drowned all remaining hopes of a successful day. Although calling off a horse show is definitely too bad, yet postponed it was until the following Saturday.

All this, however, turned out to have a silver lining as May 23 dawned lovely, clear, and warm and not only were all the old entries on hand again, but also a number of new ones came over from Washington. So despite gas rationing, tire shortage, and postponement the entry list was the largest and classiest in years, although spectators ranks were decidedly depleted.

Pony classes started off the day in fine style with Robert Warfield's little white "personality plus" pony, Gray Cloud, on his good behavior for the first time in years taking the championship after having placed 2nd in the saddle to Mrs. W. Graham Boyce's Tom Thumb and winning the jumping class.

Tom Thumb took the reserve with a 3rd in the jumping. The little ponies had it all over the big fellows which included such well known performers as Miss Muffet, who won the big saddle class, Chit Chat, winner of the jumping, Prince, Limerick Lace and Melody.

The horses took over in the hunter hacks and a tremendous number of entries turned up for it. Col. Paul Morris, who came up from Front Royal to judge after having come up the week before when he could not be reached in time to be notified of the postponement, was hard put to distinguish one horse from another in the melee, but finally pared it down to a judgeable size. The Indian Spring Stables' Kid Boots, a 3-year-old mare took the blue and came right back to repeat in the suitable to become class in which Mrs. Merrill MacNeille's Missa was 2nd and Mrs. Rigan McKinney's Grand Top 3rd.

The Junior Hunters saw Jack Sadler's 4-year-old Spain go beautifully to win. Michael Smithwick's 4-year-old, Halethorpe, was 3rd in this class. He is one of the best jumpers seen in some time and went so consistently in all his classes that he changed hands on the strength of it and now is a member of the Rigan McKinney stable.

The driving class, an innovation to fit the times, had a fine turnout and was won by Howard Streaker with his Starlight and a breaking cart.

The Smithwicks aboard Halethorpe and Bacon Boy, along with Harriet Stokes on her little bay came off with the junior team in fine style as they did later with the pairs of hunters, while in the green hunters, Mrs. Louis Merryman, Jr. (alias Sarah were paraded about the grounds that Editor J. A. Estes, of The Blood-Horse, Lexington, Ky., could judge them.

The Kentucky "Colonel" Editor Estes, one of the great authorities on American Thoroughbred breeding, a celebrated bloodline student, undoubtedly had his most difficult assignment as he worked on lining up the very level lot of fillies and then again, a level lot of colts. Mr. Estes deliberated somewhat, just as must have Colonel Dulany when he singled out the 1st Virginia yearling champion. He was thoroughly careful and conscientious, utilizing a mathematical point scoring system. This system was devised the night before by this judge and Abram S. Hewitt, as a means of grading the horses and remembering them.

Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Farm's classically-bred Imp. Challenger II—Omaya, by Imp. Sir Gallahad III daughter was selected as the best of the fillies. A big filly, with great substance, many felt that Editor Estes, looking for the race-horse prospect, would pass her up on her size, but the half-sister to 3 winners had the points, was his choice, and placed above Pvt. A. A. Baldwin's Imp. Pharamond II—Shell Hole, by Man o'War filly, an extremely quick looking, well balanced individual.

Mr. Estes had but a moment of relation, before the yearling colts were led forth. He then selected a grey son of Forty Winks—Uganda, by Imp. Sir Greysteel as the winner. This colt is owned by Hon. Westmoreland Davis of Leesburg, Va., and got the winning ranking over Mrs. T. A. Winthrop's Runantell—Sword Queen, by Genie colt, the champion of the recent Upperville Colt and Horse Show.

These were the win and place awards, as arrived at by a mathematical system of 30 points for balance, 15 for substance, 5 for quality, 20 for fore legs, 10 for hind legs, 5 for head, 5 for neck, 5 for disposition, and 25 for way of moving (walking). The co-inventor of this system, Mr. Hewitt, well known breeder also owner of the great Pilate sire was very close with the judge in his point scoring. Both had 90 of the possible 120 points scored for the Forty Winks colt and both had high ratings for the winning Imp. Challenger II filly. Their judgments were noted down separately and without consultation, and were reviewed later by the writer.

There were many real horsemen and women in attendance. An innovation, 1st used successfully at Front Royal Remount Depot during the Virginia Horsemen's meeting there this spring, and also enjoyed at the Pimlico Yearling Show, was introduced again at this Yearling Show last Sunday. This was the judging competition for the spectators, with a final grading given, when cards were scored against the official verdict of the judge. Spectators paid 25 cents for score cards and had to turn them in prior to the announcement of the official awards. R. P. Williams, of Alexandria, Va., won the filly judging class and Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh, of Springsbury Farm, Berryville, Va., was the winner of the colt judging class. A. M. "Buck" Chichester, of Leesburg, Va., owner of Whizzaway, successful sire, was 2nd in the filly judging, Dr. R. L. Humphrey, nationally known veterinarian of Mountville, Va., was 3rd in this event. Back of Mrs. Greenhalgh, were: R. S. "Dick" Peach, secy., of the Upperville Colt and Horse Show, also a well known breeder and hunter dealer, and Miss F. Julia Shearer, of Meander Farm, Locustdale, Va., likewise a horsewoman, who stands Thellusson at her Meander Farm.

Mr. Williams' win of the filly judging contest was rather unusual, in that he has never been interested in horses, only twice had he attended a horse show. But recently out of Yale, he was visiting Mr. and Mrs. George L. Harrison and Mrs. Harrison's sons, William and Cary Grayson at their Blue Ridge Farm, near Upperville. He had been shown about the farm, asked to see the difference between a foal and a yearling, etc.

On Saturday, Humphrey S. Finney, editor of The Maryland Horse, Nick Saegmuller, secy., of the Virginia Horsemen's Assn., Mr. Estes and the writer had the pleasure of lunching with the Harrisons. Mr. Williams was there, sat mute through lunch, listening attentively to conversations ranging from breeding theories to racing successes. The next afternoon at the yearling show he thought it would be sporting to try marking the fillies, further the 25 cents charge for the score card enabled admission to the ring. When his prize winning sweepstake award was announced, Mr. Williams, was embarrassed, reluctant to walk up to the stand. There was much merriment regarding his triumph, especially when he met the judge, Mr. Estes, and said: "I learned all I know from you yesterday." Mr. Williams had 4 out of the 5 ribbon winners in his 5 selections.

In the colt class, Runantell, representing the Broomstick line, had sons taking 2nd and 3rd. Dr. A. C. Randolph, host of the day, on whose Grafton Farm the show grounds are situated, was the breeder of both these youngsters. Runantell stands within a paddock distance of the ringside there. The Springsbury Farm Coral Sea, by Annapolis—Kentmere Girl, by Imp. Teddy took 4th. He was a very popular choice of many of the spectator judges, had a rating of 75 by the mathematicians.

In the fillies, the Upperville winner, Karakal, a bay daughter of Bobsleigh—Imp. Karam Sultan, by Imp. Kantar, owned by R. Sterling Clark took 3rd. She was imported in utero to be foaled in Virginia and prompt the question from Editor Estes, "Did you ever have one foaled on a boat?" Mr. Clark was active in Thoroughbred breeding and racing in France for many years, while shipping mares back and forth across the Atlantic to his stud in this country.

The 4th in the fillies was a lovely bay daughter of Imp. Happy Argo—Charming Note, by Imp. Polymellon, owned by Mrs. George L. Harrison. This mare might well have been a consensus choice of the spectators, had a rating of 85 by Mr. Hewitt, and should cause considerable interest in Saratoga, a half-sister of winners. Mrs. Taylor Hardin likewise had a good filly, a daughter of Double Scotch—Off Gold, placed 5th.

Clu; and 3rd in amateur jumping in which event the 1st went to Dr. Kuch's Black Hawk which gave him his 2nd handle on the Armstrong Challenge Trophy, retiring it, and 2nd to Dr. V. J. Levy's Kinnegad.

In this amateur jumping event, Dr. V. J. Levy's Vee Jay by Imp. Brumado, Fred Langer's Silver Dust who the day before was top jumper at a Red Cross Junior Horse Show in Pittsford, and Dan Albert's Fellow had to jump off for 4th, with Vee Jay taking it. In the open jumping My Play Mate had but 1 fault. In the knock-down-and-out, My Play Mate and Ard Clu completed the course in the first trial and had to jump off. In the novice jumping the blue went to Vee Jay, whom, I think can win one more blue and then must say "Good Bye" to novicehood.

The pleasure hack class went to the saddle-bred gelding, Moon Master by Man-in-the-Moon, owned and shown by Miss Virginia Smallridge; and the useful saddle horses owned within ten miles of Wayland went to Dr. N. W. Kuch's standard-bred Guy Charles.

Three horsemanship classes marked the program. The first was for riders 12 years old and under and was a victory for Miss Jane S. Hall of Oswego, N. Y. The next was for riders over 12 and not over 18 and went to Miss Peggy Rogers of Rochester who was the only rider in the class to use a hunter, viz. her own Ard Ree by Imp. Lough Foyle. Originally the show offered a ladies horsemanship class and a gentlemen's horsemanship class with no restrictions as to age. At the time of showing, however, these two were combined into what was announced as "Adult Horsemanship." This went to Robert M. Glover of Genesee. Out of several saddle horse classes, White Cloud's Platinum Star emerged as champion, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William McKay Patterson and ridden by M. Roy McGregor in all but the amateur event in which Mr. Patterson, himself, was up.

won the lead rein again on her Twinkle. She also received 2 more ribbons, a red and a yellow; in pairs of ponies jumping and touch and out. This is her first season of jumping and she is off to a flying start, having already a good seat and firm leg grip.

Miss Muffet and Teddy LeCarpenter were a winning combination in saddle ponies. Miss Muffet is a 7-year-old grey roan mare, and Teddy is a 7 year old, red-head with freckles.

Miss Weezie Murray was back in the ring after a siege of poison ivy. Once again she showed her ability to be in the ribbons; with a 3rd in pony jumping on her own Victory Girl, 2nd in pony hunt teams with Miss Nancy Sehlhorst on Tommy Tucker, and Miss Susanne Eck on Moonstone.

During the morning classes it was nip-and-tuck between Sally, Miss Daphne Bedford's bobbed tailed white pony and Napoleon, Kentucky Stable owned, and ridden by Jimmy Kerlin. A tie was the verdict so they drew. "Nappy" was the lucky one, the champion pony.

Two bareback classes were of particular interest, the first for children under 16, the 2nd for those over 16. There were 13 entries in the 1st of these, and I was pleased to see so many children ride bareback so well, they did figure-8's, dismounted and mounted plus the usual walk, trot and canter. Miss Nancy Sehlhorst on Tommy Tucker was decidedly the best, although she could not mount without help, but there was a very good reason, she had a strained ankle from a fall the day before.

The older division was won by Miss Nerty Jessop and her sister Betty placed 2nd. Betty had a chance to show her ability when horses were exchanged and Betty drew Jack Sadler's spirited Spain, who took off and cavorted around the ring. I understand he is to be trained for racing next fall, maybe he thought it a good time to practice with Betty as a passenger.

Rose Valiant, a chestnut, 4-year-old mare, by Valorous out of Rose Dunstan, was bought at the Whitney Sale by C. C. Freeland. Today Linky Smith rode her into 1st place in suitable to become hunters, also paired with Miss Penny Jamison's Zombie in pairs of horses jumping, again in 1st place with Zombie and C. E. Lang's Quintillian in hunt teams. In spite of this brilliant display Quintillian gained more points and was hailed champion horse.

Humphrey S. Finney and Henry A. Dentry judged the show.

half bred mare, and reserve champion brood mare of the show.

An excellent lot of yearlings competed for the trophy and ribbons, and Mr. J. M. Shapiro's Sum Total, by Koodoo, topped the Thoroughbred division ahead of Bimbambo, Redemption, and Peace Play.

Mrs. Arthur O. Choate's Hot Springs was the best half-bred and placed ahead of Mr. and Mrs. R. Laurence Parish's Monterey, Strippy, and Armful. Most of the colts were by Imp. Bimbo III, the grey stallion, who after several successful seasons as a sire at Twin Lakes Stud Farm, died very suddenly just a few weeks before the eighth annual Colt Show.

Mrs. Edward B. King's Winston by Roigrey won the half-bred division ahead of Bon Jour, George Penant, and Grancen, (Roigrey formerly the property of Mr. M. Roy Jackson, M. F. H. of the Radnor Hunt was donated to the U. S. Remount Service, and is now at Front Royal, Va.). Roi Allenby by Roigrey owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sydney S. Gilbert won the Thoroughbred division and was later selected for the championship.

This show, one of the best in the east, was held through the courtesy of Mrs. Edward B. King on her Woodhill Farm, and is supported by the master and subscribers of the Goldens Bridge Hounds, as well as residents of the northern part of Westchester County, N. Y. Proceeds of the show were donated to the North Salem-Somers Branch of the American Red Cross, and the North Westchester chapter of the Professional Horsemen's Association.

Judges were Frederic H. Bontecou, M. F. H. of the Millbrook Hunt, Millbrook, N. Y., and Miss Emily L. Stevens, Bedminster, N. J.

Mrs. King entertained the judges, and invited guests at a luncheon just before the show, which included many officers in the U. S. Army from this section, who were home on leave for the week end.

Columbia Show

door horse show held at night in this part of the country. After adjusting themselves to the combination of dusk and electric light, riders and horses alike found it very refreshing to ride in the cool of the evening. Members of Columbia, determined to make the show a go, were pleased to find all the exhibitors more than willing to cooperate in this effort to raise funds for rebuilding. Over 80 horses were entered in the various classes. Hunters and jumpers seemed the most popular but western and gaited horses received a goodly share of interest.

Merrijane Churchill, owned by Miss Ryta Esh of Columbia Hunt, proved herself one of the outstanding entries in the show. This little mare "brought home the bacon" in the finals of the jumper class after placing in practically every event she entered. This meant winning the coveted trophy donated by Mrs. Charles J. Stocklen and Mrs. Zula Currin. Merrijane, Bounder and Cavalier also carried their riders to first place in the junior hunt teams with a clean performance by the riders, Mildred Esh, Norman MacArthur and Albert Dockerell appearing in full hunting attire and with accessories galore.

Brown Twig, owned and ridden by Mrs. Helen Boone of the Portland Hunt Club, was another entry that did himself proud. Taking first place in both the ladies' and open hunter classes, he also placed among the winners in several jumping classes. Brown Twig bears out the contention of those who like them small over jumps.

Mr. and Mrs. John Osborn of Astoria, Ore. (over a hundred miles away) showing their hunters, Solomon Smith and Noble Cry, were welcome exhibitors at the show, especially in view of the rather serious trailer accident they experienced while returning home with their horses from the Lake Oswego show in May. The enthusiastic Osborns rarely miss a horse show and are splendid additions to any entry list. With his injuries still apparent, Solomon Smith performed admirably under John's guidance in hunter and jumper classes and placed 2nd in the road hack class, 3rd in the trail horse class.

Saturday night's show carried as a special event, a cavalry exhibition by a platoon of Troop A, Cavalry, Oregon State Guard. This is a portion of the group that has been recently organized to defend this state in the event of an invasion by a hostile power. The men under command of Lt. Charles J. Stocklen went through their drill perfectly and impressed the audience splendidly.

Ralph Geisey's green hunter Koli Bey ridden by Miss Liddy Snow of Lake Oswego Hunt, placed third in both ladies' hunters and open hunters and promises to go far as a performance jumper. This horse paired with Katherine Dunnaway's Rey Vencedor, took 1st place in the working pairs class both Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. Miss Katherine Dunnaway's Rey Vencedor, strictly a hunter, took 1st place in the road hacks and 2nd in trail horse class.

The hunt pairs made a most correct appearance, practically every entry carried full appointments and competition was keen. Bounder and Gallant Duke, owned by Columbia Hunt Club and ridden by Captain Bill Bryan and Albert Dockerell, performed beautifully and carried off the blue. In 2nd place were Mike

Lovely Night's 3rd Straight Hurdle Is Cagliostro

Pilate Son Sets Another New Track Record; Mrs. Clark Also Has Top Milk Winner

BY GERALD B. WEBB, JR.

Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark is having a wonderful season with her Dolly Byers-trained steeplechasers and hurdle horses. The Cagliostro Hurdle Handicap, of about 1 3-4 miles and $2,500 added, the feature jumping event of the final week at Aqueduct, was a real romp for her Lovely Night. The son of Pilate made light of his competition, while carrying next to top weight and getting a pound pull in the weights from the favorite, Mrs. George H. Bostwick's Arms of War, in at 158, who finished 3rd to Robert Lehman's Gulliver II.

Just as Lovely Night set a new record for the 1 1-2 mile hurdle course the previous week, so did he set another in breezing about the 1 3-4 mile course, lopping off 3 full seconds to be clocked at 3:12 3-5. This was his 3rd straight hurdle triumph this season, having started off with winning the Imperial Cup in Aiken, S. C. In each instance he has defeated Arms of War, a son of Imp. Quatre Bras II.

In the Cagliostro, which was worth $2,085 to the winner, Mrs. R. H. Continued on Page Twenty

Danger Man, Cannabis Do Doughty Deeds At Lancaster Show

The annual Lancaster Horse Show, sponsored by Junior League of Lancaster, Pa., for the support of War Relief and Wheatland was held May 22-23, in the Lancaster Fair Grounds.

In the jumper division Cannabis came away with the tricolor, with his owner up, who knows well how to sit still and await the slow girations which put Cannabis over his obstacles with consistent clean efforts. Cannabis is undoubtedly a good investment for Capt. Stauffer, full well paying his way, wherever he goes, whatever his competition.

H. O. Firor was up with his On Trial from Maryland to get the reserve jumper honors, and get cracking good performances with his Cherry Bounce, the winner of the handy hunters as nephew Hugh Wiley did the riding. Cherry Bounce and On Trial placed in a 1-2 order in the handy hunters.

Reserve to Mr. Haines' Danger Man, the champion hunter of the day, was Tip Top Stables' Highland Jag, owned by William G. Lefler, of Medford Lakes, N. J.

Quoting from the Lancaster, Pa., Sunday News, of May 24:

"The Lancaster Horse Show was a real triumph despite the downpour of Friday which made it necessary to call off the show after only 4 classes had been held. The reason for its success was the stamina and courage of the various committee members.

"By Saturday afternoon the sun was shining, the ground was drier and the crowd had increased.—Saturday night after the show the committee members all heaved a long sigh of relief and thanksgiving for they knew that the show was a success."

Hugh Wiley, of Towson, Md. took care of the horsemanship for children 13 to 18 years inclusive. He rode his On Trial, while Miss Patricia Firor, on Cherry Bounce, placed 2nd. In the horsemanship for children less than 13 years, Miss Honey Hess, riding Blossom, was judged the blue ribbon winner, besting Eric Duemling on Little Man.

The junior division, horsemanship and lead-line classes, brought out a number of keen youngsters.

Bosley) put up a lovely performance with last years suitable and hack winner, Swaggerman, to win over Spain who is always right there when the ribbons are pinned.

Then came one grand sweep for the amazing and spectacular Appy of Blarney, Rigan McKinney's Apple-lusian sensation, fresh from his working hunter championship at Washington. He took the working, qualified and handy hunters with superb performances, bowing only in the ladies' in which he was decidedly careless with his hind toes.

In the working he defeated among others, the consistent Spain, while in the qualified, Mrs. Merryman's great jumper Prince Tex had to be content with 2nd place. However, these 2 came back at Appy in the ladies', and with Sarah aboard both, Prince Tex took the blue and Spain the red.

The open jumping saw some really good jumpers on hand, Linkey Smith's big brown horse along with Pat Patrick's Parson, David Martin's Cateer, Miss Margaret Cotter's King Rock, Randle's Way, Prince Tex and others. A jump off decided the issue in favor of Linkey Smith's brown horse as Cateer placed 2nd.

Then came the thrill of the day in the knock down and out with only 2 fences in the ring starting at 4'-6". Five horses went clean in the 1st round, Prince Tex, King Rock, Randle's Way, Peter Pepper (Brooke Gallion's old hunter), and Cateer. The bars went to 5'-0" for the 1st jump off and 3 went clean this time, Prince Tex, Randle's Way and Peter Pepper. Rigan McKinney gleefully raised the bar to 5'-7" as the sun (it was 7 o'clock in the evening) shone full through the fence. Prince Tex in his bouncing, lovely style bounded over "sun" and all with more than just inches to spare and landed to the roar of applause from the crowd. Peter Pepper and Randle's Way couldn't quite make it, just taking the top bar off. The ribbons were pinned in that order.

Prince Tex is all horse, the most beautifully "put together" and most perfectly balanced horse I ever saw and far and away the loveliest looking open jumper. There aren't many horses which can win the ladies hunters and then turn right around and bounce over 5'-7" to the knock-down and out award.

Then to end a perfect day Jack Sadler's lovely going youngster, Spain took the hunter championship with a blue and numerous 2nd's and 3rd's to his credit over Appy of Blarney, whose handy hunter win did not count toward the final score.

3. Tip Top Stable entry; 4. On Trial, H. O. Firor.

Eagle Mist Repeats In Frankstown Win With Owner Riding

The 9th Annual Frankstown Hunter Trials were held near Altoona, Pa., on Memorial Day, May 30, under the auspices of the Frankstown Hunt Club. Held in the heart of the Allegheny hills, the large crowd and many contenders voted this renewal the best in the almost decade history.

"The big event of the day, of course, was the Frankstown Plate, which is the most coveted sporting prize of all Central Pennsylvania", The Chronicle was advised. "There were 14 entries this year and 8 of the horses had perfect performances. The judges Roy Sible, and Dr. Harry Prothro, both of Johnstown, Pa., in order to score them properly, worked over 40 minutes, that C. E. Davis' Eagle Mist, with his owner up was recorded the winner, his 2nd triumph in this Plate in successive years. Mr. Davis, of Conemaugh, Pa., rode his Eagle Mist to best My Business owned by Paul S. Vipond and ridden by Earl De Shong, Paul S. Vipond's Sky Painter (formerly owned by Mrs. M. E. Whitney), with Stittler Vipond up and Mr. Davis' own Morning Mist, ridden by Miss Frances Crouse, who placed 4th."

The Davis and Vipond families divided the ribbons fairly equally in the Frankstown Plate.

The course was laid about the Hunt Club over a 1 3-4 mi., course, over rolling terrain, with 15 jumps including stake and rider, Aiken, post-and-rail, stream jump, deep ditch jump, etc., and a patch of bog. The jumps were 4'-0", some trappy, a nice feature was that the pairs and hunt teams finished over the Aiken in front of the judges, abreast.

In the pairs of hunters, for the trophy presented by George P. Gable and Arthur Johnston, Dr. John Shaffer's Trap, with Dick Shaffer up and Bill Maloy's Moffit, with C. E. Maloy up, were the winners. They had a good round, beating Paul Vipond's My Business, Earl De Shong up, and L. March's Unknown, with owner riding.

The hunt teams had 4 entries. Owners rode the winners, Paul T. Winter rode his Ritewell, Fred Stormer rode his Rock and Mrs. Stormer rode her Miss Confidence to get a deserving blue. The winners received cups presented by Miss Marge Snively, John Buchanan and Dr. L. P. Glover.

SUMMARIES

Framingham's Aim For Biggest And Best In Mass. Is Attained

The Framingham Horse Show, held at Raceland, Framingham, Mass., on May 23-24, had a committee headed by William E. Schlusemeyer, John C. Hopewell, I. J. Stapleton and Miss Catherine V. Mundy.

There were no championships, but on Sunday afternoon the final day, a hunter stake event was won by Mrs. Henry S. Hall, Jr.'s Glennie Lad, an event of sufficient importance that it perhaps could be termed a championship of the show. This class, as were all others, was a sweepstake event. Raymond J. O'Brien's Farm Boy was 2nd.

Henry Yozell had the winner of the open jumping stake, his Marlene, went clean to get 1st money. William J. O'Sullivan's Doughboy was 2nd.

The hunt race, for amateurs wearing hunt colors and horses who had proved their eligibility in accomplishing the outside course in one of the hunter classes, wound up the 2-day affair. Charles S. Bird, III rode his Mr. X the winner.

Herbert Shaw's The Buffs, unentered in the stake class, was an outstanding winner of the corinthians. Mr. Shaw's Mallow was the winner of the 2nd, a splendid double.

Miss Edith Hall's Ursula won the ladies' hunters, when Glennie Lad was 3rd, back of Baiting Brook, owned by Richard C. Sawyer. Ursula was also the winner of the lightweight hunters.

It is to be hoped that this first effort at a show at Raceland may be carried on as an annual important fixture of the New England horse show circuit.

CLASSES FOR HUNTERS, JUMPERS, POLO PONIES, THREE AND FIVE-GAITED HORSES AND STOCK HORSES

HILDEGARD NEILL, Chairman

1110 Cheyenne Blvd., Colorado Springs

In The Country:-

M. F. H. Coordinator, And Others

Mrs. John Arthur Hinckley, M. F. H., Old Dominion Hounds has been made Defense Coordinator for Fauquier County, to succeed John Fox Bowman, who has resigned to go in the Navy. Mrs. Hinckley, a top lady side-saddle to hounds, has been most active in Defense Work, the Citizens Volunteer Registration, the Salvage and the Sugar and Gas rationing; also the Red Cross and the Fauquier County Motor Corps. Jack Keith who was to go to Quonsett in August has been ordered to Harvard, then later on to Northwestern. Captain William E. Doeller of Old Dominion Country has left for Harrisburg, Pa., where he will be temporarily stationed.

At Ft. Knox, Ky

Pvt. Henry Frost, Jr., is at Ft. Knox, Ky., with the tanks. There also from the Middleburg-Warrenton, Va., hunting country are W. Wallace Brown III and Denny Skinker. Pvt. Frost, Jr., was a well known gentleman-rider and steeplechase trainer in civilian life; Pvt. Brown, III had an announcing system with which he called many horse shows on the Virginia circuit and Pvt. Skinker, of The Plains, was a well known poloist and a keen follower of Orange County Hounds for many years. They are all going through courses on how to run tanks, use guns and operate other mechanized equipment. Their first introduction to a tank was the job of cleaning the inside, getting 3" of mud and water off the floor with just bare hands and a rag.

Monmouth County

Monmouth County Hunt Horse Show, regularly scheduled each year in late June or July, has been cancelled. The hunter trials, regularly scheduled the Sunday following the Essex Foxhounds hunt meeting in the fall will probably be continued in a local scope—with possibly additional classes added to the program, to induce all owners of hunters to take part.

Hellowell Makes Bombers

Jack Hellowell, who was with Charles Pierce and his 'chasers for so long, is now doing his part, making bombers in the Ford Plant, at Willow Run. He was with Mr. Pierce for 9 years. On week-ends Jack gets to ride some of the many horses he had charge of for so long and rode Cimeron, in a hunt team of Mrs. Higbie's at a schooling show she held recently.

Obligation To Write

Elizabeth Ober, of Monkon, Md., well known sportswoman and fox-hunter, writes regularly for the Baltimore News Post. It is said that she has turned down several Defense jobs, because she feels that she has an obligation to keep writing of sport, to help hunting, horse showing and racing through the duration. It is said that she feels that there are others to fill her place in Defense plants where there are very few who have the experience with horse and hound who would be interested in promoting sport through editorial effort in the newspapers.

Plum—Walker

E. Gaddis Plum, Honorary Whipper-in of Monmouth County (N. J.), prior to his joining the R. A. F. back in 1941, which he was affiliated with in the last war, married Beatrice Walker, of Tiverton, Devon, England this week. Mr. Plum was one of the most enthusiastic members of this well known Harrier pack, of which Amory L. Haskell is M. F. H.

Major-Generals

In the list of officers recommended for promotion to Major-Generals is the name of Charles H. Gerhardt, who has been among the top half dozen polo players of the Cavalry Service for the last several years. His play on the Army Team has been brilliant, evidently his ability as an officer is equally recognized. In the same list that has been released to the Press, appears the name of Terry de la Mesa Allen, who we made mention of in our issue of June 12.

Hart Campaigning

Col. J. O. Hart, who has a division of horse racing at Omaha, leaves Hurst, Tex., where his thoroughbred nursery and training track is located, for Nebraska and will remain for the rest of the meeting, after which he will ship his horses to Dade Park, where they will be campaigned this summer. Horace Ramage, who also has several horses in training, has the Hart color bearers in hand.

Lieut. Col. Gimbel, Jr.

Lieut. Col. Louis S. Gimbel, Jr. was killed in an airplane crash 3 weeks ago in Maine, while on a routine flight in the line of duty. He was with the Air Corps Ferry Command. In civilian life he was a keen member of Monmouth County Hounds (N. J.). He is survived by his wife and 3 children. "He was always so generous and kind to everyone and such fun out hunting", one of his friends advised The Chronicle.

Top O'The Hill Tip Top

Following the near completion of the breeding season at Fred and Mary Browning's Top O'The Hill, Jack Jarvis, major domo of this establishment, donned overalls and with a little help and much paint has given this layout a complete going over. Mr. Jarvis painted the big barn throughout, and also the various outbuildings and fences. "Have to keep the place where I live in tip-top condition" commented Mr. Jarvis, who also has a victory garden going nearby the stables.

Fletcher—Leh

The Henry Lehs, of Allentown, Pa., have announced the engagement of their daughter Ellie Leh to J. North Fletcher, of Warrenton, Va. The wedding has not yet been set, but is understood to be slated as one for members of immediate family and wedding party. The bride is well known as a show ring hunter and jumper exhibitor, having considerable success with King Rock as an open horse (now owned by Margaret Cotter), and with Bird Boy, recent acquisition from her about to-be husband. Mr. Fletcher well known horseman, for many years a leader of Virginia show-ring activities, also in Camden, S. C., where he operated an extensive stable, is likewise a well known horse show judge. He has been the head of the Warrenton and Virginians' Horse Shows for a number of years.

Hillerson To Camp

Dr. L. M. Hillerson, of Upper Darby, Pa., is in the Army. He is reporting for duty at Camp Grant, Ill. on July 15. He is the owner of the well known Conwell, winner of 90 ribbons during the past 3 years in open jumping and most recently, the champion Devon 1942 open horse. Young Edgar Mills rode this consistent jumper who won 18 ribbons in 3 shows this spring.

McCamey Goes South

George B. McCamey, (Bedford Stock Farm, Tex.) who has been at Fairmount, where a division of his horses is campaigning in charge of H. K. (Skinny) Barron, returned to Fort Worth this week. Mr. McCamey, who recently moved his Thoroughbred farm from Bedford to a location south of Fort Worth on the Old Cleburne Road, adjacent Reynolds Brothers, will transfer the rest of his mares and foals to their new home next week. He reports several inquiries from breeders for his original Bedford Stock Farm,

Two Firms Reduce Fees For 18-Day Relief Meet

The West Virginia Turf Fund Agency Committee, headed by Albert J. Boyle, announced two generous donations to the "Victory Meeting" now in progress at the Charles Town (W. Va.) Jockey Club establishment.

For the 18-day duration, through July 4, the Bahr Gate Corporation, of Chicago, has voided its daily fee for the mechanical starting device and will ask only maintenance.

The Automatic Calculating Machine Co., of Baltimore, has reduced their daily rental by 33 1-3 per cent on the electrical odds board in use here.

There two moves will save the West Virginia Turf Fund Agency approximately $2000 and thus the Army and Navy Relief as well as the six West Virginia charitable institutions figuring in a 20 per cent division of the 18-day receipts have been unexpectedly enriched by the reduction of these expenditures.

and it is possible that he might lease this place to another North Texas breeder.

Cowboy Reunion

For the third consecutive year the official show of the American Quarter Horse Association will be held in connection with the Texas Cowboy Reunion in Stamford, Tex., July 2, 3, and 4. The association now has a total membership of 248.

Approximately $600 in cash prizes and awards has been listed. There are four classes listed besides the grand champion stallion and the grand champion mare. Official judging will take place Friday, July 3, with J. H. Minnick of Crowell, Tex., as judge. All entries will be kept on exhibit all three days of the show. R. W. Arledge of Stamford is chairman of the quarter horse show.

Lovely Night

Crawford's Tasmania, recent winner at Aqueduct, rushed off to set the pace after Jockey McMillan had steadied Lovely Night in the 1st 1-4, taking him under wraps to let Gulliver II and Robert E. Lee go before him as well. Arms of War and Lovely Night brought up the rear for the 1st part, then the 2nd time down the back side, Jockey McMillan, who has had all the winning rides on Lovely Night, made his only move, to breeze to the top, thence gallop home with an ever widening margin, which was extended to 12 lengths. Jockey Slate urged Arms of War with tremendous energy through the flat.

Mrs. Clark's winning streak was continued as her Top Milk captured the Air Corps Steeplechase on Saturday, with McMillan riding again. Top Milk, son of Milkman—Peake, by Imp. Sir Gallahad III, defeated the 3 consecutive winner Blanket, owned by Mrs. J. P. Miller, while in receipt of 27 lbs. Top Milk had run most recently in the Belmont Stakes, in an effort to emulate his famous own brother Pasteurized, who won The Belmont in 1938 in the 2nd fastest time on record.

Top Milk as a yearling went to Saratoga. In the consignment of Mrs. W. Plunket Stewart, breeder, he was mentioned in these columns in July, 1940: "Mrs. Stewart has a splendid full brother to Pasteurized in a big bay colt, out of Peake. He is one of the best grown colts seen this spring. With a fine front, tremendous bone and great size, he is very much like his brother Pasteurized at the same age. His connections are very high on him. He was 3rd in the Upperville Colt and Horse Show." Mrs. Clark paid $3,500 for Top Milk.

Jockey McMillan had trouble in rating this Milkman through the early stages, then got him in hand and went up to take command past the stands the 2nd time. Blanket came fast at the end, coming from last to within 5 lengths of the winner, the favorite of the race and the lone 3-year-old. War Magic and Rice Cake were pacemakers through the 1st 3-4's.

There were many who sent out spurious reports on W. D. Cleland's Emmas Pet's 1st triumph at the big tracks this season. This Imp. Gauntley son, trained by the veteran jockey G. Neillands reported in the winner's circle on Wednesday June 24, to beat possibly even a better field of 'chasers, on paper, than he had in his 1st race. This should do much to substantiate Emmas Pet's 1st winning effort, even though some contenders were taken the long way that day.

David Dallas Odell put the tack on Cielo Siete Stable's Imp. Fatal Interview on Friday, June 26, and met him back at the finish when he reported with the winner's purse of $1,000. Lieut. Paul Mellon, currently with the Cavalry, Ft. Riley, Kan., enjoyed owning this 'chaser for the fun he had out of his name and breeding (by Double Bed—Fiancee, by Bachelor's Double). Mr. Odell claimed him last season. Fatal Interview has about won himself out by now. He beat the Mare's Nest Stud Kennebunk and Victor Emmanuel's Highlander.

jockey for James E. Ryan, like all true artists, capable of rising to extraordinary heights.

The combination of Deanslaw and Jockey Magee in The Georgetown was one of those rare naturals of the turf. He took Deanslaw back at the outset, when along behind Kent Miller's Elkridge, Bath and Ossabaw for the 1st ¾-mile, then sent him along with a rush, to take command at the 8th of the 12 jumps, and thence on, drew clear quickly. Jockey Magee had perfect timing for his one and winning move.

Deanslaw was standing back in breath-taking efforts, landing as far away as he took off, gaining at every fence, jumping so effortlessly that he needed but slight hand riding to win by a big margin, say 6 lengths. There was evidence that the gallant Foxlaw—Jenny Deans, by Buchan son went wrong 2 fences from home, but such was his courage, that he was not threatened, despite pulling up short.

Elkridge was well up until returning to the infield, from the loop over by Donald Ross' Brandywine Stables, then faltered, but was still best of the others. Ossabaw was on the head end by a good margin at the 5th, was eased a bit as the winner took command, then came strongly in the end from the sharp heels and strong hands of Jockey Penrod.

The inexplicable was Bath. A notable frontrunner, he dropped out of it, after the half-way mark, about the 6th fence, after not getting closer than 3 lengths from Ossabaw. He ran a dull race, fenced poorly, and some said he "scotched" a jump on the outside loop, arching his back the wrong way, to take the run out of him. At any rate, he ran his worse race since his debut and Harbor Hill winning effort last fall as a 3-year-old. Jockey Scott was up as usual, got him home 20 lengths ahead of the last horse, Brookmeade Stable's War Lance.

Despite the magician he is, Mr. Ryan could not convalesce Deanslaw during the week and he did not withstand a prepping work on Monday for an effort in the Indian River, which stake, won by Mr. Miller's Elkridge, will be reported on next week.

In all there were 35 'chasers starting in 5 races at Delaware Park from June 24 through June 30. One horse lost his rider, one fell and one was pulled up.

Mr. Ryan's training luck ran well. After a double with Deanslaw and Big Rebel.

Parachutist, a Milkman son, who turned in a winning effort over the ¾-mile course, he was in the winner's circle again the following day, to greet Jockey Magee who had scouted Similar to a new track record and the $2,400 winner's share of the $4,000 purse, for owner Maj. R. K. Mellon.

John Bosley, Jr.'s Rougemont took the 2-mile jumping race on Friday, June 26, with son, Mr. John Bosley, III riding. In this Mrs. J. T. Skinner's Mad Policy was the place money winner, to be claimed by B. F. Christmas for $1,400. Rougemont was right back in there running again Monday. Mr. Bosley, III was riding again, and so hard was he trying to get this Exeter gelding up that he failed to let Jockey Magee get through on the inside with Little Cottage II, and then when Jockey Magee came up on the outside, he went over with him and the colored Jockey Bland came home the short way to take the winning purse on Meeting House for Rokeby Stable. Mr. Bosley, III was set down for 10 days for the breach of riding etiquette, undoubtedly actuated by the enthusiasm of youth.

However, before Mr. Bosley, III's suspension went into effect, he was up again to ride on Tuesday, June 30, sending along Walkaway, owned by K. Yellott, to win in handy fashion, 2½ lengths ahead of C. Mahlon Kline's Siegel II and J. Brooks B. Parker's Cortesano. In this one Mrs. E. du Pont Weir's Dedham lost his rider, J. Magee, at the 12th after making a bad landing, running 6th. Brookmeade Stable's Seafight fell the fence before, was back with Dedham. Mrs. George Garrett's Circus showed on top the whole way until entering the stretch, then stopped badly.

Quarter Horses and Others

San Angelo will sell in a big way at Duwain E. Hughes' Upper Ranch on July 17. 119 will come under the hammer, all of his own breeding. Quarter Horses will predominate, many of them by Waggoner. There will also be some Tennessee Walking Horses offered from his registered stock in this distinctive breed. He will also sell some quarter-bred Palominos. The names of Peter McQue, Billy Anson, Steeldust (a name conjured with in that country) and Paul L. all denote the high standard of the offerings. We wish Mr. Hughes success.

Open Jumper CONWELL
